

Dear Friends,

It is a joy for me to share with you both in your marriage preparations. Your wedding day is such a special day, where you will make a commitment that will express your love for one another, and place your dreams in each others hands, and trust your lives with one another's hearts.

From this moment on, let your love grow respectfully and faithfully, assuredly and sincerely.

Let your dreams be realized through your support to one another. Become one another's encourager so that you may double your strength, focus and determination.

Let your hopes be fulfilled through your commitment to one another. Be each other's partner in your careers, ambitions and life-long purposes.

Let your trust be well founded and your faithfulness be assured through your friendship, partnership and relationship to one another. Become each other's best friend by constantly listening to, consoling and embracing one another.

Seal your love each day by doing two special things: Firstly, never let the sun go down with anger or resentment in your hearts. Life is far too short to waste it on bitterness that produces loneliness. Take time to discuss important issues and be willing to say sorry and be open to forgiving one another's mistakes.

Secondly, never let days pass by without telling one another those three simple words, "I love you."... For in those three little words are the power, strength and security that you will share together.

May you experience the love of Christ deeply as the foundation of your married lives together, and be blessed this day with a love that will never let you go and a peace that will always remain in your heart.

"The LORD bless you, and keep you: the LORD make his face to shine upon you, and be gracious unto you: the LORD lift up his countenance upon you, and give you peace."

Your friend and minister

Rev Scott Cameron
Minister of the High Kirk